D. A. R. Building.

The following article taken from the Washington Star of April 21st, will be of Interest to the many Richmond people interested in Jamestown. The Star says: Mrs. Benjamin L. Purcell, of Richmond, chairman of the Jamestown Exposition committee of the D. A. R., has made a report to the full meeting of the Daughters on the proposed permanent memorial to be placel on Jamestown Island. This memorial will be in the form of a building, a facsimile of Hays Barton, the birthplace of Sir Walter Raleigh in Dovonshire, Eng. This building will be a permanent structure, and will be for the especial accommodation of the Daughters and their friends at the exposition.

The following report is self explanatory: At the thirteenth Continental Congress a resolution was introduced looking to the crection by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution on Jamestown Island of a permanent memorial. This resolution was carried and Mrs. Fairbanks appointed a committee to consider the question and to report back to the fourteenth Congress. This committee met in Richmond, Va., on the 8th of April, 1863. They visited Jamestown in order that they might, after personal observation of the place, be able to make a more intelligent report. After careful consideration they decide unaumously that a building of some permanent kind, which would be a home for this memorial to take. Their reasons were too numerous to be incorporated in this report, but, if the Congress desire, I will be glad to tell them.

Plans Secured.

Plans Secured.

At the January board meeting the question came up for decision, and the action of the board was to appropriate $200, or so much thereof as might be necessary for the use of the committee to secure plans and specifications for this house, and for any other expense incident to their work, and to request the committee to present the same to this Congress for final action.

In accordance with this order, the chairman immediately wrote to England and ordered these plans prepared. On their receipt she plut them in the hands of an architect in order that she might be furnished with the necessary specifications to bring to you. The committee met yesterday and fullly discussed these plans and specifications. The committee was unanimously in favor of the memorial, and of the plans, presented, the only discussion being, on the question of the material to be used in the construction of the house, the architect having stated that it built of frame with stucco and pebble dash that the cost would be within $5,000, but if built of brick with stucco and pebble dash that it would cost approximately $5,500.

Nelson—Seldon.

The announcement of the wedding on May 33d of Miss Sallie Bruce Seddon, of Baltimore, to the Rev. Robert B. Nelson, of Newport, Ky., is of much interest in Richmond, where Miss Bruce and her flance, as members of historic Virginia families, have a large connection and numerous friends.

Miss Seddon is the granddaughter of the late Hon. James Alexander Seddon, Secretary of War in the Cabinet of the late Jefterson Davis, president of the Southern Confederacy.

Sabet Hill, the former home of the Seddons, typical for its Virginia hospitality, is situated in Goochland county, and though it has passed from the hands of their former owners, is still associated with their memory. The Nelson House at Yorktown, Va., restored by the Virginia Society of Colonial Dames, preserves the traditions of Governor Thomas Nelson, the founder of the Nelson family, who have remained prominent in Virginia and other States, where different branches from the parent tree have located.
